Francis Rhodes Montgomery Design Competition (FRMDC)

Prototype Demo Video

The judges want to see your prototypes, but due to the virtual nature of the FRMDC the only way to effectively achieve that is to produce a “demonstration” video. The demonstration video should be integrated into your final oral presentation. It should be a seamless part of the presentation. It can be multiple smaller videos if that makes sense for your project. Remember the goal here is to supplement understand of your project and demonstrate your ability to produce and test hardware. It should not be the dominate (time wise) part of your presentation. It is assessed as a part of your presentation rubrics.
